This newsletter marks our 100th publication at All Engelhard, a milestone that we are very excited about. We never thought in a million years that our journey would take us this far, and we are truly grateful to you, our reader audience, for motivating and inspiring us along the way with your kind feedback, thoughtful information, ideas and suggestions. Because of your interest and passion for our great hobby, YOU invariably continue to stoke our determination and commitment to up our game, to expand our knowledge, insight and commitment to research, all in the spirit of providing true validation for what we love to do.

We kindly encourage you take some time to refresh yourself with our previous 99 ORIGINAL PUBLICATIONS publications, as well as our IN THE NEWS readings, all released in just the past three years. You will see that our market has come a LONG way in this short time, and yet it is arguably still in its very infancy. It is very much a blessing to reflect on and witness the continued incredible growth and excitement within our collector community, as our hobby becomes more fascinating with each day. We clearly would not and could not have taken part in this beautiful force of nature without your inspiration and continued goodwill toward our efforts.

Moving forward, we are anticipating some major shock-waves and positive developments in our market, affecting both collectible and generic bullion. With today's continued suppressed spot price, silver sentiment is extremely low and eerily quiet. In fact, awareness and interest in silver as an investment hedge are off the mainstream radar. In spite of this, our market has taken its own high road, and continues to build upon its already solid and well-respected presence in the numismatic collectible world. Just THINK what will happen to our collectible market when silver spot price rockets upward, and the general public become aware and starts pursuing silver bullion? Do you think our collectible audience will benefit from this?! You bet your life savers!

So, go out and buy that 100oz silver bar or collectible ingot while it's still on sale, as we all know that some day, maybe sooner than we think, silver spot price will also hit the big century mark, and will likely continue considerably higher than that.

Centesimally,

AE
