

GAME ON!

RECENT NOTABLE SALES AND MORE!

By AGWire™
March 12, 2016

These days, you can't help but hear and read the so-called "news," that Silver is in the tank, market sentiment is down, the manipulation will continue forever, hard assets are becoming a thing of the past, younger generations only understand "New Money" in the form of electronic currency and payment, yada yada. When you think about it, who in their right mind would ever consider buying the shiny stuff?! After all, it's heavy, it's inconvenient to store, it tarnishes, it stains your hands and clothes and everything you touch, AND it has been going down in value! And chances are, you couldn't even give it away on a street corner if you tried, let alone try to use it as payment. Just ask Mark Dice! Anyone who agrees with us here, please contact us directly through the website and we will consider buying EVERYTHING you have! Because the rest of us know that the time to buy is when there is blood in the streets, when the herd has lost faith and says SELL, or they are simply asleep at the wheel or brainwashed by the crooked banks, clearing houses and media. So, for those of you who think bullion is toast, read no further as this article will not be of interest to you. But for those of you in the know, the GAME is ON!

Yes, we all know that Engelhard is silver bullion, and while the contrived spot price for generic silver bullion has blatantly been hoodwinked to rock bottom by an elite cabal of banking and political pirates, Engelhard bullion values are not surprisingly holding steady. In fact, in most cases they are increasing in value despite a suppressed spot price. This is one of the many joys and benefits of owning collectible bullion in this current environment, as it provides the security of precious metals investment AND the upside of numismatic value. Below are a few Engelhard bar and ingot sales from just the past few months that we feel are notable, and which further confirm that collector interest is strong and growing, and that values have clearly taken on a numismatic flavor right before our very eyes.

RECENT NOTABLE SALES

01/01/2016	Tier 1 10oz Top Logo s/n 00627 sold privately for $2000, a solid $200/oz, and 13.7X spot price at the time!
01/13/2016	Tier 1 3oz Top Logo s/n 00161 non plus sold for $1650, a stunning $550/oz, and a whopping 37.2X spot price at the time!
01/06/2016	Tier 1 4oz s/n 05390 sold for $1,026, an impressive $256.50/oz, and 17.6X spot price at the time!
03/01/2016	Tier 1 5oz Top Logo s/n 01651 came on eBay at $650 BIN and was GONE in minutes. $113/oz for a Tier 1! That was a paltry 7.75X spot price at the time. We firmly believe that open auction would have taken this spectacular museum quality ingot in excess of $1000.
03/01/2016	Tier 2 10oz 3 rd Series 5 digit s/n 15342 came on eBay at a VERY reasonable $375 BIN and it was GONE in a flash. 2.5x spot for a Tier 2. We believe open auction would have taken this ingot to near $500.
03/07/2016	Tier 2 10oz Extruded T.OZ s/n P000505 listed on open auction and sold for $762, a noteworthy $76.20/oz, and 5X spot price!
03/08/2016	Tier 1 5oz 5 th Series large mid hallmark s/n 52288 with FPM counter-stamp sold on eBay at $689, a very respectable $138/oz, and 8.9X spot price!

The final sale numbers above are not much different from sales prices back in 2011, when spot price was at its peak. This tells us 3 things – (1) rare Engelhard bars and ingots maintain their value independent of spot price, (2) upside potential is now approaching astronomical considering today's depressed spot price is 1/3rd of where it was in April 2011, and (3) the rapidly growing collector market for rare bullion is driving today's prices despite the reported decline in silver sentiment.

So, where does it go from here? As we've said before, the worldwide Engelhard collector base is growing by the day, public knowledge of Engelhard's collectability and intrigue are ever present, and we see a very bright and shiny outlook for collectible bullion going forward. Engelhard bullion gives you the pleasure of two great plays in one silver bar, not unlike a Reese's Peanut Butter Cup. And sorry, Willy Wonka, but Engelhards are even better than your Golden Ticket, and everything about them promises a sweet silver lining!

Confectionately,

AE